

Banghua Zhu is currently working towards the B.Eng. degree in Electronic Engineering from Tsinghua University, Beijing, China. His research interests include information theory and statistics, with applications in communications, data compression, and learning.